

Enterprise Northern Ireland and the LEA network:

Partners in Economic Development

Enterprise Northern Ireland is the representative body for the network of Local Enterprise Agencies (LEAs) across Northern Ireland and as such, is at the heart of a dynamic, high profile network of enterprise support providers. Enterprise Northern Ireland is unique amongst other organisations working in the small business or enterprise development sector as we are dedicated to working with pre-entrepreneurial start-ups and early stage business ventures. The organisation is committed to encouraging and supporting new business formation and supporting business growth through the delivery of small business support interventions.

The Northern Ireland Economic Strategy document (2012) and subsequent monitoring reports have outlined the need to rebalance the economy to create jobs, wealth and prosperity, and in the light of the global downturn, indicate extra steps the Northern Ireland Executive have prioritised to help boost business activity and rebuild the economy. These include providing training and re-skilling support, addressing low levels of entrepreneurship, targeting young people as the cohort worst affected by the recession and stimulating greater awareness of the benefits of exporting.

Building on the themes of the NI Economic Strategy, the UK Government and NI Executive are working together to tackle the important challenges of rebalancing the economy.

As an External Delivery Organisation (EDO) approved contract holder for government contracts, Enterprise Northern Ireland is ideally placed to help tackle the important challenge of rebalancing the economy. Through the wider Local Enterprise Agency network, Enterprise Northern Ireland has extensive experience in delivering programmes that address the issues that face the Northern Ireland economy, and can demonstrate success in developing opportunities that help accelerate economic growth and competitiveness.

This publication outlines the economic and social problems which Enterprise Northern Ireland-managed programmes have addressed, and details the important contribution that our members – the regional network of Local Enterprise Agencies – have achieved in all eleven new District Council areas in terms of developing entrepreneurship, business start-up, job creation and wealth generation with the aim of rebuilding and rebalancing the Northern Ireland economy.

THE ISSUE: LOW RATES OF BUSINESS START-UP

Supporting new business venturing has long been at the core of social and economic development strategies. Entrepreneurship and business start-up are key drivers in the development of society and the economy in terms of job creation, wealth generation and innovation, and a dynamic small business sector is vital to the success and prosperity of the economy by contributing to employment and competitiveness. Small businesses are an important source of employment; they also fulfil local consumer needs and are important elements within the supply chain of larger businesses.

According to the Global Entrepreneurship Monitor (GEM), Northern Ireland has consistently had one of the lowest rates of early stage entrepreneurial activity compared to other UK regions. Increasing entrepreneurial activity is therefore a key policy priority to address the low level of business start-ups in terms of increasing the quality and quantity of new business ventures in order to stimulate economic growth.

HOW ENTERPRISE NORTHERN IRELAND HAS HELPED

Enterprise Northern Ireland is the incumbent delivery agent for the Regional Start initiative, the national business start-up initiative for Northern Ireland and part of the range of 'Go for It' branded programmes. The programme provides a range of guidance, support, training and business clinics to develop and grow businesses, and is focused on encouraging aspirant entrepreneurs to produce a business plan as one of the key early steps to starting a business and moving into self-employment.

The programme has been hugely successful, primarily derived from its national nature – the same level and quality of provision, support and guidance is offered across Northern Ireland ensuring the delivery of a high-quality, co-ordinated programme.

Achievements:

Since the Programme's inception in October 2012, 8,307 high quality business plans were achieved through the Enterprise Northern Ireland network of Local Enterprise Agencies. In addition, there have been over 5,000 jobs promoted and over 100 direct referrals to Invest NI. Emerging business sectors include leisure and personal services; professional services; retail; creative industries; hospitality and tourism. In terms of participants, we have seen a 63% male and 37% female split, with 31-50 year olds most likely to start their own business.

This demonstrates the significant contribution that Enterprise Northern Ireland and its network of LEAs have made in providing focused and innovative advisory and training support to individuals across the region, in order to raise the overall number and quality of business starts.

THE ISSUE: ACCESS TO FINANCE

Access to finance is recognised as one of the greatest barriers to business start-up, and has important implications for would-be and existing business owners. Restricted access to finance often has a detrimental impact on the success of a new venture: under-capitalisation at start-up may limit the performance, size and growth prospects of businesses as well as threatening the long-term viability of those businesses established without first securing capital to fulfil ongoing cash flow requirements.

Aspirant business owners in Northern Ireland are reportedly more likely to be dissuaded from pursuing their entrepreneurial ambitions because of lack of funding than those in any other UK region. Many potential business owners are deterred from applying to banks because they have poor credit histories or because they fear they will be turned down. Levels of risk aversion are also believed to be greater in the region than elsewhere in the UK.

Access to finance is also the main barrier facing young business owners, with problems arising from their age, limited life and work experience. For instance, student loan debt, not having time to accrue savings or a track record in business, may all creates difficulties when they attempt to access credit and banking services.

HOW ENTERPRISE NORTHERN IRELAND HAS HELPED

Enterprise Northern Ireland helps by administering two loan schemes, available through the LEA network, which help address access to finance as a barrier to business start-up and growth.

Achievements

Enterprise Northern Ireland is the official Delivery Partner of the Start Up Loans Company in Northern Ireland. In partnership with the Community Development Finance Association, the Enterprise Northern Ireland Start Up Loan Fund, has provided (as at May 2015), 248 loans, totalling in excess of £1.2 million, plus mentoring support, to help businesses start up across the whole of Northern Ireland.

Enterprise Northern Ireland also works alongside Ulster Community Investment Trust as fund managers on the Northern Ireland Small Business Loan Fund, which provides unsecured loans of £1,000 to £50,000 to social enterprises and SMEs, both at start-up and to support business growth. The Fund helps to bridge gaps where other funding options have been exhausted. To date, the Northern Ireland Small Business Loan Fund has provided over 150 loans to businesses across Northern Ireland, totalling in excess of £3.1 million.

These achievements demonstrate the contribution that Enterprise Northern Ireland has made in terms of reducing the impact of access to finance as a barrier to business start-up, thus strengthening the entrepreneurial base of the economy.

THE ISSUE: YOUTH UNEMPLOYMENT

Young people have been identified as the main losers and victims of the recession, and the group hardest hit by the legacy of the economic downturn. Described as a 'lost generation, young people have recently experienced the most severe labour market constraints in decades. Youth unemployment is a major problem, not just economically but socially: recent research for The Prince's Trust revealed a direct link between unemployment and depression, suicidal thoughts, self-harming, alcohol and drug use amongst young people.

Developing entrepreneurship and new business venturing has been suggested as a remedy to problems associated with youth unemployment, providing young people with an opportunity to participate in economic life that may otherwise be denied to them.

HOW ENTERPRISE NORTHERN IRELAND HAS HELPED

The Business Boot Camp Programme is an innovative programme actively targeting young entrepreneurs and business owners, aged 16 to 35 years old, to start and grow their businesses. Funded by the EU INTERREG IVA Structural Funds Programme, and delivered by Enterprise Northern Ireland in partnership with local authorities within the Greater Belfast Metropolitan area (Carrickfergus, Lisburn, Castlereagh, Newtownabbey, North Down and Belfast) and Donegal County Council, Business Boot Camp is unique on the island of Ireland – it is the only programme of its type that supports young entrepreneurs through a combination of resources including group workshops, one-to-one mentoring, enterprise shadowing and an on-line platform.

Achievements

There are two elements to the programme, specifically designed to meet the needs of young entrepreneurs. Since August 2012, 139 young people have participated in the 'START' element of the programme, and 131 participated in the 'GROW' element, going to develop expansion plans for their existing businesses.

Of these participants, 197 people aged 16-35 years lived in the Greater Belfast Metropolitan area: 102 participants in the 'START' element and 95 participants in 'GROW'.

These figures demonstrate the contribution that Enterprise Northern Ireland and the LEA network have made in terms of addressing youth unemployment by encouraging business start-up and growth, contributing to both personal and economic development. The programme has also helped build a more sustainable economy, develop cross border relationships and create jobs.

THE ISSUE: ENTERPRISE AS A REMEDY TO LONG-TERM UNEMPLOYMENT AND ECONOMIC INACTIVITY

Reducing long-term unemployment and getting people back into work are key policy objectives of the Northern Ireland Executive. Although the number of people claiming Jobseekers Allowance in Northern Ireland fell in May 2015, the wider definition of unemployment – which includes people who are not entitled to means tested benefits – rose by 6,000 people over the previous three months.

Along with youth unemployment, long-term unemployment – classified as those claiming benefits for more than a year – is a genuine cause for concern. Unadjusted figures published in the Monthly Labour Market Report (May 2015) show that 62.1% of the unemployed have been unemployed for one year or more – up 14.5% over the year. In terms of long-term claimants, 36.4% of all claimants were claiming benefit for a year.

Economic inactivity in Northern Ireland – standing at 26.9% in January-March 2015 – was the highest rate among all other UK regions, and significantly higher than the UK average (22.1%) (Labour Force Survey, May 2015). The Northern Ireland Executive launched a strategy in April 2015 called 'Enabling Success' which aims to tackle the decades-old problem of economic inactivity – people of working age who are not seeking work – with the aim of increasing the employment rate in the region to above UK average levels, therefore increasing economic competitiveness and productivity in the global market.

HOW ENTERPRISE NORTHERN IRELAND HAS HELPED

The Exploring Enterprise² programme develops employment opportunities for the long-term unemployed. The Programme, which engages with Steps to Work clients, NRA and NEET targets, encourages people to think about enterprise as a potential career. The Programme also gives participants the opportunity to nurture their entrepreneurial ambitions whilst addressing problems arising from their limited life and work experience, confidence levels and the availability of role models by providing one-to-one advice and training, leading to an award in Understanding Business Enterprise.

Achievements

Since its launch in June 2011, the Exploring Enterprise² Programme has helped 2,655 people to consider a career in enterprise as a way of leaving long-term unemployment. The Enterprise Northern Ireland network of LEAs delivered 197 accredited training courses, helping 1730 participants achieve the award in Understanding Business Enterprise. Of these, 407 participants entered self-employment, 299 went into full or part-time employment and 243 went into further education, training or other government programmes. These figures demonstrate the success of the Programme, both in reducing long-term unemployment but also in encouraging self-employment as a career choice for the economically inactive.

Starting summer 2015, Enterprise Northern Ireland will be rolling out the Exploring Enterprise³ programme (EE3p), a follow on from its predecessors. Part-financed by the European Social Fund, Department for Employment & Learning and Enterprise Northern Ireland, EE3p is a FREE pre-start enterprise programme which will target disadvantaged groups who are unemployed, economically inactive or working/in training less than 16 hours per week. The participant will explore self-employment as a career option, or alternatively, be supported returning to the labour market. Regardless of whether they have a business idea or not, the programme provides an insight into starting a business whilst also allowing participants to work towards achieving the CCEA qualification, Level I Award in Understanding Business. EE3p will also offer one-to-one mentoring support, and guidance for participants into and through mainstream business support and further education options.

THE ISSUE: NEED FOR EXPORT GROWTH

Exporting goods and services outside Northern Ireland offers businesses the opportunity to broaden their horizons and grow. Expanding their customer base also helps to strengthen employment and improve the ability of a business to ride out, or overcome, recessions.

As Northern Ireland offers a small and limited marketplace to providers of goods and services, export-led growth is a key policy priority area for government. The region's business base and export base are also very small, with reliance on a small number of exporters to Europe and Russia accounting for around 60% of Northern Ireland exports, as well as to emerging economies in Asia, India, South America and the Middle East. Northern Ireland lags behind the rest of the UK with regards to the number of active exporters and exporting activities remain behind target.

There a number of barriers facing exporters and those who wish to grow their business in this way: for instance, businesses have cited the lack of market knowledge, finance and networking assistance as impediments to them accelerating their growth through export.

HOW ENTERPRISE NORTHERN IRELAND HAS HELPED

Enterprise Northern Ireland recognises that many businesses – particularly within the SME sector – experience barriers, practical difficulties and confidence issues when, having achieved domestic market success, they attempt to commence export activities.

Acknowledging that the cross-border market is a logical, but frequently under-utilised, first step to wider export markets, the Tradelinks Programme was developed as a cross-border business development initiative between Enterprise Northern Ireland, the LEA network and the Border County Local Enterprise Organisations. The Programme was designed to enhance all-Ireland and international trade by assisting and growing the micro-enterprise sector across Northern Ireland and the six Border counties (Louth, Monaghan, Cavan, Leitrim, Sligo and Donegal).

Now closed, the Programme helped micro-businesses, on both sides of the border, to identify and address barriers to cross border trade and development using a portfolio of business improvement techniques, including mentors, networks, market entry support and a wide range of business development modules. Programme advisers worked with the micro-enterprises to help them identify, develop and solidify new cross-border markets, making export an achievable prospect and giving them experience of working within different legislative backgrounds and currencies.

Achievements

The programme, which ended in August 2014, helped 208 small businesses to become more sustainable and competitive by developing cross border trade opportunities and network linkages.

As at May 2015, 77 new jobs had been created by these companies, who also reported £1.6 m increase in sales.

THE ISSUE: PROMOTING SOCIAL ENTERPRISE AND THE SOCIAL ECONOMY

Social entrepreneurs bring innovative business ideas to some of the most pressing issues affecting society and to the most disadvantaged areas of Northern Ireland. The Government defines social enterprises as “businesses with primarily social objectives”. Just like any other business, social enterprises compete in the wider marketplace to deliver goods and services and to make a profit; the difference is that the profits are principally reinvested towards achieving their social or environmental purpose rather than being directed towards shareholders or owners.

Social enterprises create business solutions to social problems, operating in almost every industry: from health and social care to renewable energy; from retail to recycling; from employment to sport; from housing to education.

HOW ENTERPRISE NORTHERN IRELAND HAS HELPED

The social enterprise sector is recognised as an important component in helping to rebalance and rebuild the economy for Northern Ireland. Enterprise Northern Ireland holds the contract for the Social Entrepreneurship Programme, which is delivered via Enterprise Northern Ireland members throughout the province. The programme provides business support and mentoring to social economy business start-ups, promotes sustainable models of finance and provides ongoing training to help sustain these new businesses.

Achievements

Across Northern Ireland, the outputs from the Social Entrepreneurship Programme have been very encouraging:

- 139 new social enterprises set up, creating over 341 jobs and with a combined projected turnover of £20 million;
- Export sales of around £8 million;
- Strong social impact – 83% of social enterprises set up in the top 300 Super Output Areas (SOAs) of disadvantage in Northern Ireland;
- 30 participants in the Social Entrepreneurship Programme have become Invest NI mainstream clients.

Antrim Enterprise was established in 1991 with the vision of making Antrim borough more enterprising and innovative. Antrim Enterprise has the specific mission of educating, encouraging and assisting individuals, of all ages, through the transition into self-employment. It achieves this by:

- educating individuals on self-employment (from primary school level)
- educating individuals on employability issues and their career path
- supporting individuals into self-employment
- supporting business and community enterprise at a local level
- working with government and its agencies, local authorities, schools, businesses and communities to target resources on local needs

In adopting this vision, the agency's primary objective is to create new and permanent employment in the small business sector. One of their innovative services is The Hatchery NI which came about following demand from local start-up businesses and sole traders who were experiencing difficulty finding a safe environment to work – they were reluctant to work from home as it was isolating, and the traditional coffee shop was distracting and lacked privacy.

Clients are offered 3 phases of business development:

- the Nurture Service – virtual services including telephone answering with bespoke scripts/ mailing address service
- the Fledging Service – mailing address/ telephone answering and hot desking
- the Flight Service – 24/7 access to desk, filing cabinet, telephone and internet in a shared office.

12 This publication focuses on the contribution that Enterprise Northern Ireland has made to the microenterprise and small business sectors, and to the social economy in Northern Ireland through the delivery of a number of programmes and contracts.

The contracts are delivered by Enterprise Northern Ireland's members, the network of Local Enterprise Agencies. The Local Enterprise Agencies are a major regional asset as they are the KEY enterprise organisations in Northern Ireland focused on supporting new venture creation. All Local Enterprise Agencies deliver a suite of pre-start, start up and business development interventions, provide flexible and low cost accommodation for business start-up and incubation, and offer access to the Enterprise Northern Ireland Loan Funds. Collectively, Local Enterprise Agencies have over 2,000,000 square feet of workspace accommodation available for small businesses and provide accommodation for over 7,500 jobs across Northern Ireland. In addition to providing focused business advice, training and support, each have areas of specialism, skills, knowledge and expertise.

Newry and Mourne Enterprise Agency

WIN Business Park
Canal Quay
Newry
BT35 6PH

Tel: (028) 3026 7011

Newry and Mourne Enterprise Agency (NMEA) was set up in 1983 as a division of Newry and Mourne Co-operative with the primary objective of promoting jobs and creating wealth in the Newry and Mourne area. The first enterprise agency to be established on the island of Ireland, NMEA has evolved into a diverse organisation offering a wide range of services to its clients.

Its objectives are to:

- Increase the stock of new businesses
- Help existing small businesses to source new market opportunities
- Strengthen Newry and Mourne's 'enterprise culture'
- Assist in the strategic development of Newry and Mourne by promoting the region as an investment location and contributing to central and local government policy making
- Develop cross-border economic co-operation
- Consolidate political stability and contribute to social harmony in the area

In terms of property, Newry & Mourne Enterprise Agency owns and manages a number of business parks in Newry, Warrenpoint, Flurrybridge, Kilkeel and Forkhill, offering high quality, low cost premises to businesses.

CONCLUSION

This publication demonstrates the success that Enterprise Northern Ireland has had in terms of supporting pre-entrepreneurial start-ups, would-be and existing businesses through its network of Local Enterprise Agencies who are embedded into, and are at the heart of, local business communities in each new District Council area.

Through the Local Enterprise Agency network, Enterprise Northern Ireland has played a vital role in encouraging new business creation, developing entrepreneurship, addressing access to finance as a barrier to business start-up, and has impacted on economic inactivity, long-term and youth unemployment.

Enterprise Northern Ireland looks forward to developing a closer working relationship with each new District Council area now that further economic development responsibilities have been transferred.
